Circulating Nurse

Job Description Template

We're seeking an experienced RN to work as a circulating nurse in our downtown surgical ward. [Facility name] is renowned for several surgical specialties, offering nurses the chance to work with cutting-edge technology and a highly experienced multidisciplinary team. If you're looking to further your career as a perioperative nurse, we invite you to join us in furthering our mission to produce the best patient outcomes possible.

Benefits

- Competitive pay
- 401(k) retirement plan with matching
- Health, dental, and vision insurance
- Paid time off (PTO) and holidays
- Continuing education (CE) credits
- No weekends, nights, or call shifts

Duties and Responsibilities

Circulating nurses at our organization are expected to perform the following duties:

- Collaborate with the surgical team to deliver nursing care to patients undergoing surgical/invasive procedures
- Perform circulating functions, such as monitoring, recoding, and managing overall nursing care of patients before, during, and after surgery
- Verify the identity of the patient and surgical location prior to the start of the procedure
- Update patient medical records before, during, and after surgery
- Prepare and sterilize operating rooms for use before surgery
- Stock operating rooms with sterile equipment, linens, and supplies prior to each surgical case
- Provide pre- and post-operative patient education to patients and their families
- Assist anesthesia team members during patient intubation and extubation

Compensation and Shifts

- $35 - $45/hour with up to $15,000 sign-on bonus
- Start times range between 0530-0700
- Full time, expected 36-40 hours/week
- May occasionally work overtime, depending on the length of assigned cases
- Location: [Insert city, state]

Qualifications and Skills

- BSN from an accredited nursing school required
- Active RN license administered by the [State] Board of Nursing
- BLS, PALS, and ACLS certification required
- At least 1 year of critical care or operating room experience preferred

Take the Next Step in Your Nursing Career With Us

Ready to take your career as a perioperative nurse to the next level? Click here to start your application today.