Endoscopy Nurse

Job Description Template

Want to work in a healthcare facility that's helping people live longer, healthier lives? Come work at City Medical Center, where excellence is at the heart of everything we do. We're seeking a registered nurse to join the endoscopy team at our 400-bed tertiary hospital.

The endoscopy RN cares for patients undergoing inpatient and outpatient procedures in the GI lab. They provide goal-directed care by assessing patient needs and carrying out interventions as directed by the gastroenterologist. Previous experience working in an endoscopy lab or clinic is preferred.

Benefits

- $3,000 sign-on bonus
- Health, vision, and dental benefits for employees and qualifying family members
- Paid parental leave
- Flexible PTO
- Employer-matched retirement plan
- Employee discount program for cell phones, gym memberships, and more

Duties and Responsibilities

- Preparing patients for procedures
- Ensuring consent and preop requirements are completed
- Assisting with diagnostic and interventional endoscopic procedures such as colonoscopies and PEG tube placements
- Monitoring vital signs during procedures and alerting providers of abnormal findings Recovering patients after procedures
- Providing postop and discharge teaching

Compensation and Shifts

- 4 10-hour shifts/week Monday-Friday; mandatory on-call shifts every other weekend

- Hourly rate starting at $48
- Sign-on bonus available

Qualifications and Skills

- Must have attention to detail and time-management skills
- Compassionate, caring, and outcomes-oriented
- Excellent communication, both written and verbal
- Active RN licensure
- Graduate of an accredited nursing school, BSN preferred
- Basic Life Support (BLS) and Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS) certifications required
- Previous critical care, ED, or procedural care experience preferred
- Gastroenterology nursing certificate encouraged

Join Our Dedicated Team

Ready to take the next step in your nursing career and become an endoscopy lab registered nurse? Apply now to join our team of dedicated healthcare professionals.